

Sedro-Woolley High School Class of 1971 Scholarships

In 2009, the Sedro-Woolley High School Class of 1971 established a scholarship program to help aid graduating seniors from SWHS and State Street High School who plan to enroll post-high school in college or vocational programs to further their education.

Scholarships are awarded in two categories, one for those pursuing vocational education and the other for students enrolling in a college/university to complete a four-year academic degree.

The inaugural scholarship awards recipients were Justin Spradlin and Rosyln Gober.

Justin Spradlin, a 2008 graduate, received the first Class of 71 vocational scholarship, and Roslyn Gober, Class of 2009, was awarded the Class of 71 academic scholarship.
